Church Wants
The church of Broadway M. confidentially, to letters explanatory of conditions under which the church has been laboring. The Sun first published the account of the troubles in the little new Methodist church at Twelfth-st. and Broadway, weeks ago. It hasn't healed up yet, and the good people are still in a stew.
The trouble rose over dissatisfaction with Rev. Mr. Northcott, who was their pastor. The conference was requested not to return him, which was granted. The church people wanted an A 1 man, they said, and fished first for Rev. Hollingsworth, of South Bend, and next for Rev. Farr, of Shelbyville, both of whom they failed to hook. Then they made an effort to procure Dr. Van Anda, who doesn't like his present high-toned congregation at Evanston, Ill. This required a transfer which the bishop was loathe to give.

The conference in the meantime had sent "one Rev. George H. Murphy," the letter states, a young man and inexperienced. It further states that he was notified by committee, not to fill the pulpit, but did so despite the protest. The official board then framed a set of resolutions which signify that Rev. Murphy isn't wanted a little bit and ask the bishop to make another appointment, consulting the official board when he decides to do so.—Indianapolis Sun.

Vote in Johnson County.
The full vote on candidates in Johnson county can not yet be ascertained. Inspectors of the different precincts in several of the out townships have not yet made their reports.

The vote on congressman shows a loss to Cooper of two hundred votes.
His majority in the county will be about 320. Overstreet carried Franklin township by 300 majority.

The Burial of Miss Lottie Ryker.
The funeral of Miss Lottie Ryker occurred this morning at 10:00 o'clock.
The funeral was private. The services were conducted by Rev. L. P.
Marshall. The burial was at Hopewell.

Three Lunatics.
There were three men in this city who did not exercise the right of suffrage today. They are Marion Akers, Phillip Leonard and John Cobb. One of these men said "We have gotten on the bank of the political stream and can conscientiously watch the drift wood float down the stream. We wanted to see ourselves in the true light." They are earnest and serious in their views and do not think it is right to vote with any political party. They have not cast a ballot for two years.—Martinsville Reporter.

Dorothy, or the Merry Milk Maids
The charming operetta, "Dorothy, or the Merry Milk Maids," which was given in this city some time ago, is to be repeated. Most persons who had leading parts in the former presentation, all have signified their willingness to "do it over again." They met at the opera house last evening to discuss preliminary plans.

Seriously Hurt.
Steve Dickson, colored, while ratifying in a very hilarious style this morning walked into Mullikin's stable and fell into a stall where a horse was tied. The horse kicked him, striking his head. The skull was not fractured but he had a narrow escape.
His head was badly cut and was sewed up by Dr. W. E. George. He is now getting along nicely.

WHAT CAUSED IT?

Reasons Assigned by Some Prominent Citizens for the Landslide.

A number of prominent citizens were interviewed this morning concerning their reasons why so many former democrats, changed their vote.

Prof. D. A. Owen says: "It was the work of the dissatisfied element in the democratic party. This caused the defeat of the republicans two years ago."

I. C. Wood, "I believe it was on account of the hard times, and attributing the hard times to the administration."

G. M. Overstreet, sr., "It was on account of the hard times and holding the administration responsible."

Victor Smith, "I attribute the result to the general depression in business."

C. A. Overstreet, "It can be nothing else than the depression in business."

E. C. Miller, "Cleveland gave the only reason, 'We cannot go before the people, etc.'"

Jesse Overstreet, the republican candidate for congress, "It is the rebuke of the American people against free trade."

A. B. Colton, "In this district the silver question was partly the cause.
Congressmen going back on old friends was another reason."

John T. W. Woollen, "The dissatisfaction of the people in the act of congress slowness to do anything promptly. I also attribute it to the leading democratic papers. They found plenty of democrats to abuse but not republicans. It is nothing more than I expected."

H. Miller, "It is my opinion that it was caused by the snow storm in South Dakota."

P. W. Payne, "The people had taken one step towards free trade and were to take another.
I vote that."

David Swift, "The democrats did it."

Clarence Valentine, "Lack of votes."

Chas. Byfield, "It had been drifting towards us since the first of the campaign and we had never recovered. It would have been worse if the election had occurred six weeks before this time."

County Chairman W. A. Bridges,
"It was undoubtedly the vote."

A Mad Republican.
James Tilson this morning said—"I have always had a leaning towards the prohis, but yesterday when neither they nor the populists had a ticket in the field, they both turned in and worked with the democrats.
It completely knocked out the prohibition in me. I am done with them. Done, I tell you. But we beat 'em any how."

Election Results.
It was a republican day yesterday.
The tidal wave not only extended over this state but throughout the country.

Indiana has gone republican by a large plurality according to the latest advices and New York elects Morton over Hill by probably 160,000 plurality.

Our telegraphic dispatches gives the results in detail so far as known this morning. Dispatches during the day do not indicate any change in tenor of the early dispatches. Unless there is a change in these, it seems certain that the republicans have elected a full delegation to congress from Indiana. The next house of representatives will have a republican majority.

The result in New York is no surprise. No man perhaps has ever been more overestimated by his admirers than Hill. His successes heretofore have not been the result of good generalship so much as accidental fortune in riding on the crest of a popular wave in favor of democratic principles. In this he has been the recipient of good fortune which was brought about by others.

In this district Mr. Cooper's defeat is due chiefly to disappointed candidates for appointments who used their influence to compass his defeat.

This is the experience of congressmen in both political parties. It is impossible to satisfy the demand of all who want office. More must always be disappointed than can be satisfied.

No difference what party a member of congress may represent, he is compelled to meet this situation and unless backed by impregnable majority will go down under the wrath of those who place office above principles. The story is not new. It is an old one and has been illustrated a thousand times in the experience of both parties.
